Spacestor is a highly innovative ancillary workspace furniture designer and manufacturer operating throughout US, UK and EU regions.

Notable products which were first movers in their aesthetic and functional space are the original, eponymous Spacestor storagewall range, Railway Carriage collaborative booths, Residence phone and videoconferencing pods and Palisades zone dividers.

The business is privately family owned, has been operating since 1975 and has always maintained a strong track record of managing profitable growth and making significant charitable donations.

As Spacestor has grown in size and reach the owners have utilised different entity structures for appropriate corporate governance. Revenue in 2021 is $50m approx and employees total 150 approx, of which the global management team numbers twelve, based across the principal Spacestor locations of Los Angeles and London.

Major clients include:

Adobe, Amazon, Barclays Bank, Facebook, Fidelity, Fujitsu, Google, Jacobs, JP Morgan Chase, Microsoft, Spotify, SAP, T-Mobile and Wells Fargo.

Key collaborations also typically involve leading global architects including:

Gensler, BDP, Corgan, Huntsman, IA Interior Architects, M Moser, OTJ Architects, Sheppard Robson, Stantec, Ted Moudis, TP Bennett and TPG.
